Wrestling The Devil

Whatever its merits as a softener of reality, lubricant of conversation, and easer of anxiety and fatigue, alcohol is at best a mixed blessing. Having tried without success to banish it, Americans have yet to live with it on comfortable terms. For all the ridicule heaped upon them, temperance - meaning "total abstinence" - societies and Prohibitionists by their lights made noble efforts to halt John Barleycorn's considerable depredations.

The Department of Health, Education, and Welfare's measure of the ravages of alcohol abuse is sobering: economic losses of $15 billion annually; 28,000 traffic deaths caused by drinking drivers; 9 million problem drinkers. Alcoholism, says the department is our No. 1 drug-abuse problem.

The statistics quantify - sort of - what the dregs lament: broken bodies, broken families, broken dreams. They justify HEW's proposed advertising campaign to persuade all drinkers of moderation's virtues and alcoholics of the need for help. "We are not telling people to drink or not to drink," the director of the National Institute on Alcohol Abuse and Alcoholism said in a news conference. "That is a personal, private decision. What we are saying is that if one chooses to drink, he has a responsibility not to destroy himself or society."

"Responsible drinking" will be the theme. And it may get through to the five-drinks a night "social" drinker who thinks he can take it or leave it alone. Then, again, it may not. Nonetheless, it is a worthy enterprise. - Norfolk (Va.) Virginian-Pilot

Pay Board Action Could
Bring a New Dock Strike

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A shutdown of all U.S. ports loomed as a possibility today after the Pay Board trimmed a wage increase won by West Coast longshoremen in ending a 134-day dock strike.

There was no immediate comment from Harry Bridges' West Coast International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union Thursday after the Pay Board in Washington lopped about one-fourth of the ILWU's negotiated increases.

Nor was there comment from Bridges' East and Gulf Coast counterpart, President Thomas W. Gleason of the AFL-CIO International Longshoremen's Union.

But Bridges told his 13,000-member union on Feb. 24 that the ILWU and the ILA had agreed that they would join in a nationwide dock strike if the Pay Board touched wage increases won by either union.

The Feb. 16 contract between the ILWU and the West Coast employers' Pacific Maritime Association contains language which permits the ILWU to take strike action within 30 days if the Pay Board refuses approval of the contract.

The Pay Board's staff reported that West Coast stevedoring firms had saved some $1 billion in reduced labor costs through increased productivity since the union agreed to new work rules in 1960.

Nevertheless, business and public members of the Pay Board outvoted labor members 8 to 5 in rejecting the new ILWU-PMA contract as inflationary.

The Pay Board said the new ILWU contract provides for a 16 per cent increase in wages and overtime and a 4.9 per cent increase in employer-funded pension and welfare benefits during the first year of the new 18-month pact.

It voted 8 to 6 to approve only a 10 per cent increase in wages and to allow the 4.9 per cent increase in fringe benefits to stand. The 14.9 per cent total is still higher than the 8.9 per cent called for in the board's standard guidelines.

SAIGON (AP) — A U.S. helicopter carrying combat reinforcements into a minor ground fight crashed and sank in the Dong Nai River 21 miles northeast of Saigon today, and all 11 Americans aboard were feared dead.

There were no casualties in the ground fight.

The cause of the crash was not known but it appeared to be mechanical trouble in the UH1H Huey helicopter. Pilots of three other helicopters on the mission said they observed no enemy fire and saw smoke coming from the helicopter just before it crashed.

The small squad that the rifle platoon was on its way to help was later picked up by other helicopters and suffered no casualties. Reports from the field said it had engaged half a dozen enemy troops, and the reinforcements were on the way to exploit the contact.

Panel Named to Hear Suit

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A three-judge federal panel has been named to hear a suit brought by 71 Forrest City blacks and 16 whites challenging the state law on the establishment of improvement districts.

The three are U.S. District Judges Oren Harris of El Dorado and G. Thomas Eisele of Little Rock, and Pat Mahaffy of the 8th Circuit Court of Appeals at St. Louis.

No date has been set for the hearing.

B52 bombers made their heaviest raids in two weeks in support of South Vietnamese operations, and the South Vietnamese claimed their forces killed 100 North Vietnamese troops and destroyed six tanks and 11 trucks.

More than 30 B52s dropped 750 tons of bombs on North Vietnamese base camps, storage areas and infiltration corridors in the northern and central sections of South Vietnam.

Several Air Force and Navy fighter-bombers knocked out an anti-aircraft artillery battery in the 96th attack inside North Vietnam this year, the U.S. Command said. The guns 40 miles north of the demilitarized zone fired on an American plane operating in Laos, the command said.

The command also announced that a deputy district adviser, Capt. John E. Greene of Albany, Ga., was killed in an enemy ambush last Monday on the central coast. Greene's vehicle and two others were hit by claymore mines and small arms fire on a secondary road.

In one action Thursday, South Vietnamese infantrymen moving in after B52 raids on the eastern edge of the A Shau Valley about 18 miles southwest of Hue, met what was estimated to be a North Vietnamese battalion of perhaps 400 troops. Fighting continued into the night.

The Saigon command claimed 72 enemy soldiers were killed, half of them by air and artillery strikes, and 29 weapons captured. Saigon government losses were reported as three men killed and 15 wounded.

Data Quickly Destroyed

By TOM SEPPY
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Within a day of learning that columnist Jack Anderson had a private ITT memo in his possession, International Telephone & Telegraph mobilized its full Washington staff to destroy all documents that might be "misused or misconstrued" by Anderson.

On Feb. 24, an Anderson associate, Brit Hume, appeared at ITT's Washington office with a memorandum written by Dita D. Beard, an ITT lobbyist.

The next morning, W. R. Merriam, head of the office, told the staff of 25 there was a possibility of theft and that they were to check to see if any documents were missing.

"At the same time they were told to remove any documents that were no longer needed for current operations as well as documents which, if put into Mr. Anderson's possession, could be misused or misconstrued by him so as to cause unwarranted embarrassment to the people mentioned therein," the Senate Judiciary Committee was told Thursday.

Howard J. Aibel, ITT senior vice president and general counsel, said that after the meeting staff members and their secretaries reviewed their files and disposed of what he called unneeded documents, most of them old and outdated materials. Most of the material was disposed of in a shredding machine.

Five days later, Anderson published a column based on the Beard memo which he said linked ITT's pledge to help underwrite the Republican National Convention with the settlement of three antitrust suits against ITT.

Hume testified last week that Mrs. Beard told him some of the material put through the shredder dealt with the subject under investigation by the committee. ITT officials have denied it.

Aibel told the committee that ITT officials did not know exactly what material was destroyed but it consisted mainly of old speeches, press releases and clippings, old correspondence current with issues in 1962 and 1963 and brochures dealing with hotels in San Diego.

Sen. John V. Tunney, D-Calif., told the ITT official: "Do you know how incriminating this looks on its face? Hume comes in with a memorandum and the next day huge amounts of documents are thrown into a shredder."

Aibel: "But senator, if they had no use..." Tunney: "No use? They would have been of use to this committee in determining if the destroyed material had a bearing on this matter."

Racial Rioting Brings
Curfew at Arkadelphia

ARKADELPHIA, Ark. (AP) — The City Board of Directors at Arkadelphia Thursday night imposed an 8 p.m. to dawn curfew after two separate racial disturbances in the city left 12 whites injured.

Police said early today that 29 persons had been arrested. Pros. Atty. W.H. "Dub" Arnold said the Rev. I.V. Chapman and Alvin H. Pearson, 18, a student at Henderson College here, had been charged with inciting a riot. He said the charges against the others included disturbing the peace, destroying public property and curfew violation.

About 60 State Troopers were in the city Thursday night and early today. They were armed with automatic carbines, shotguns and rifles.

Arnold said the trouble began at Arkadelphia High School Thursday afternoon when blacks attacked white pupils and teachers and began breaking windows and destroying other property at the school.

Arnold said school officials telephoned police about 1:15 p.m. and said "a riot is in progress."

The prosecutor said city police, State Police and officers of the Clark County sheriff's department went to the school. Arnold said he also went.

"The first thing that I saw was the windows being broken and doors being knocked down," Arnold said. Officers said chairs were being thrown through windows. Sewing machines in the home economics department were piled in the center of the classroom.

It took officers about 45 minutes to clear the school. Classes were dismissed and the school will remain closed today.

By late afternoon, police had arrested 13 pupils. At about 7 p.m. a crowd of more than 200 blacks gathered in front of the Clark County Jail demanding that those arrested be released.

When officers refused to release the prisoners, the crowd began throwing rocks at the jail and at State Police cars parked nearby.

Arnold said the blacks were led to the jail by Chapman and Pearson.

Police said the crowd was dispersed at the jail and blacks began congregating in the downtown area. Officers reported several rocks were thrown through several store windows.

Police said they had the situation under control by 9 p.m. and the curfew was being observed by most of the townspeople.

Officials said all of those injured were treated and released at Clark County Memorial Hospital. No black was injured during the day, Arnold said.

Summary on Busing

WASHINGTON (AP) — Here is a summary of President Nixon's statement on busing Thursday night:

MORATORIUM—He wants Congress to pass legislation halting all new court-ordered busing, and requiring every school district to provide equal educational opportunity for all children.

LITIGATION—He wants the Justice Department to inter-where lower courts "have gone beyond the Supreme Court's requirements in ordering busing."

MONEY—He wants Congress to appropriate more than $2.5 billion over the next year to improve education for poor children.

GOALS—He wants a national commitment to upgrading central-city schools and providing better educational opportunity for all.

Congress Is Asked to Block Any Further
Court-Order BusingBy FRANK CORMIER
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon formally asked Congress today to block temporarily all further pupil-busing orders by the federal courts while it wrestles with long-range proposals to equalize the quality of education in all schools.

In an 8,000-word special message, Nixon recommended that a moratorium on new busing remain in effect until July 1, 1973—or until Congress acts on broader legislation at some earlier date.

The chief executive said he was convinced that the Senate and House have the constitutional power, under the 14th Amendment, to call a temporary halt to further court-ordered busing.

In addition to calling for the moratorium, Nixon proposed a new equal educational opportunities law that would channel special federal aid to schools with a large enrollment—over 30 per cent—from poor families. The amount of aid would total about $2.5 billion and would amount to roughly $300 for each pupil coming from a poor family.

Before sending his message to Capitol Hill, Nixon held an early morning White House conference with the Democratic and Republican leadership of the Senate and House.

The message was a follow-up to a television-radio address Thursday night in which he argued that his proposals "would focus our efforts where they really belong—on better education for all of our children rather than on more busing for some of our children."

In his message to Congress, Nixon argued that his recommendations "would not roll back the Constitution, or undo the great advances that have been made in ending school segregation, or undermine the continuing drive for equal rights." He said "this administration means what it says about dismantling racial barriers, about opening up jobs and housing and schools and opportunity to all Americans."

In advance of the message, many observers had wondered how Nixon would go about fashioning a busing moratorium without risking successful challenges to his plan in the federal courts.

The President noted that the 14th Amendment to the Constitution, under which school desegregation cases have arisen, specifically empowers Congress "to enforce, by appropriate legislation, the provisions of this article." He went on:

"Until now, enforcement has been left largely to the courts—which have operated within a limited range of available remedies, and in the limited context of this article." He went on:

Varied Reaction to Busing Stand

By JOHN BECKLER
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's request for legislation to halt further busing and upgrade inner-city schools promises to add new fuel to the controversy raging in Congress.

Reactions ranging from angry denunciations of the President by black leaders to warm commendation by busing opponents made it clear Nixon's apparent attempt to find a middle ground has failed to bring the warring factions any closer together.

"In effect he has declared war on the Constitution of the United States," said Henry Marsh III, the black vice mayor in Richmond, Va., a focal point in the busing controversy since a federal court ordered widespread busing covering three counties.

"Thank goodness someone has spoken for the children of America, black and white alike," said Sen. Bill Brock, R-Tenn., a leader of antibusing forces in the Senate.

Nixon withheld details of his proposal until today but the outline he gave the nation Thursday night was enough to convince some of those on each side of the issue that it will not provide a solution to the busing problem. Southerners whose school systems are already busing under court orders found little comfort in Nixon's call for a halt to "new busing."

"What about the old busing?" asked Rep. Joe D. Waggoner, D-La.

To Clarence Mitchell, Washington representative of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, the key part of Nixon's plan is his intention to have the Justice Department intervene in the courts in opposition to busing orders Nixon considers have gone too far.

"Mr. Nixon has boldly announced he will use the full power of the Justice Department to deny black children fair hearings and long-overdue remedies in the federal courts," said Mitchell. "This is a stunning example of government sanctioning hysteria and chaos."

House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford of Michigan praised Nixon's approach, as did Rep. Norman F. Lent, R-N.Y., sponsor of a constitutional amendment designed to halt busing. Lent and other supporters of the amendment had hoped Nixon would endorse it but the President said it would take too long to go into effect.

Incentives to Industry for New Products, Processes

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has proposed a bundle of incentives to industry—including some modest tax relief, credit aids, federal cost-sharing, and even prizes—to develop new products and processes.

In a special message to Congress Thursday, Nixon promised a partnership of government and industry to marshal science and technology in solving economic problems at home and reviving American competitiveness in world trade.

The message disappointed some industry leaders who have urged changes in the anti-trust laws to encourage corporations to pool research-and-development funds for projects too big and risky for single firms.

Nixon invited the pooling of resources and sharing of profits, but did so by giving assurances, in effect, that his administration will not take antitrust action against combinations seeking needed technological breakthroughs as long as their actions do not foster monopoly.

The message reported that firms in two major industries already are pooling their resources. Electric utilities have pledged $25 million a year for the next 10 years to develop a liquid metal fast-breeder nuclear reactor, as a demonstration power plant. This, said Nixon, is part of a larger effort by electrical utilities to raise $150 million a year for research and development in producing clean electric power.

Gas companies, through the American Gas Association, have raised $10 million to accelerate their pooled effort to convert coal into gas, the message said.

Other major goals of the technology drive, Nixon said, are rapid, safe and pollution-free transportation; measures to reduce loss of life and prop-

Arkla Customers to Pay for New Line

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — An official of Arkansas Louisiana Gas Co. said Thursday if the state Public Service Commission approved a cost-adjustment clause for its industrial customers, the same procedure would be used for other Arkla customers.

J.N. Clayton of Shreveport, La., vice president of Arkla, said with commission approval, all classes of Arkla customers would be assessed for the $105 million construction cost of the pipeline to the Anadarko Basin beginning July 1.

Clayton's testimony came during cross-examination on a hearing before the PSC on Arkla's request for a rate increase for its large industrial customers.

He said the current cost-adjustment clause for residential and commercial users was worded in such broad language that it would encompass the procedures outlined in a proposed cost adjustment clause for industrial users.

In the last two adjustments for residential and commercial users, Clayton said, many of the cost items in the new industrial proposal were included.

Until recently, the only cost that was passed on automatically to customers was the increase in well-head prices of gas. Under the new procedures, such costs as taxes, depreciation, administrative cost, interest on borrowed money and maintenance expenses would affect gas rates to all customers automatically.

Clayton said a major new element in the proposed cost-adjustment clause would allow Arkla to begin passing on construction costs to its customers 12 months in advance.

Leon B. Callett, attorney for Reynolds Metals Co., charged earlier in the week that the cost-adjustment clause would have the effect of rendering needless PSC approval of all proposed future rate increases.

Clayton admitted the Arkla proposal would have the effect of "increasing the cost for all" customers.

He said the new procedures were necessary for Arkla to obtain financing for the Anadarko project.

Wallace Back on Campaign Trail

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — After a day of work in the office, Gov. George C. Wallace is on the campaign trail again today with a speech to an Alabama teacher organization and a news conference in Texas.

From the Lone Star State, Wallace moves into Wisconsin next week for the first of 12 and perhaps, 13 more primaries in his quest for the Democratic presidential nomination.

His campaign people say he is counting most heavily on seven key states where he figures he can make the best showing—Wisconsin on April 4, Pennsylvania April 25, Indiana May 2, Tennessee May 4, North Carolina May 6, and Maryland and Michigan on May 16.

They have a total of 623 votes at the nomination convention in Miami Beach.

At the present Wallace isn't officially on the ballot in Indiana, but his headquarters says he will file the required petition with the 5,500 voters by the March 23 deadline.

Other primaries in which the Alabama governor is running are Rhode Island on April 11, Massachusetts April 25, Nebraska and West Virginia May 9, and New Mexico June 6. He is on the Oregon ballot, but whether he will campaign actively for the May 23 primary there is undetermined.

Wallace got a big start in delegate commitment Tuesday with his victory in the Florida primary, where he drew 42 per cent of the votes and 75 of the state's 81 convention delegates.

Wallace's visit today to Austin, Tex., for a news conference in the House of Representatives chamber gave credence to reports that the governor will try to pick up some of that state's delegates before its Democratic convention May 6. Texas has no presidential primary.

His first campaign appearance of the year in Wisconsin will be the night of March 23 at a rally in the Madison City Auditorium. It was in Wisconsin that he ran in his first presidential primary eight years ago and made a surprisingly strong showing.

Wallace also has rallies planned in La Crosse on March 28, Racine two nights later and Sheboygan on April 3, the night before the primary.

From now until the election there, Wallace probably will spend most of his time in Wisconsin, but he may make a flying trip now and then to one of the other states where he is running.

When Wallace appears Friday morning at the Alabama Education Association annual convention in Birmingham, he will probably make a plea for voter support for Alabama delegates pledged to him.

He is on the outs with national party leaders in Alabama, but will try to win control of the convention delegation. Twenty-nine delegates will be elected in the May 2 Democratic primary and runoff May 30 and they, in turn, will choose six more delegates.

Wallace has candidates running for most if not all of the 29 places in the primary.

National Committeeman Albert Rains and Committeewoman Ruth Johnson Owens also have votes at the convention, and they are anti-Wallace. So, to gain control he must get 18 or more committed delegates.

Utility Rate Guidelines

By BROOKS JACKSON
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Price Commission today announced new, sharpened guidelines for utility rates but warned the nation that big increases will be necessary to pay for the service it wants.

The regulations put limits on the rate of return that utilities may realize from increased rates, and added provisions requiring them to take into account increased productivity and to absorb labor costs that increase more than 5.5 per cent.

Also, the commission made provisions to hand over final authority on utility rate increases to existing regulatory bodies that come up with acceptable anti-inflationary policies.

Commission Chairman C. Jackson Grayson Jr. said the regulations would require reductions in some requested rate increases but not in others. He had no estimate of how much utility rates might go up under the new rules.

But he warned, "We urge the consumers of the nation to realize that when you demand service, you have to pay for it. You don't get something for nothing."

He said that four days of public hearings on utility rates made it clear that some large increases are going to be necessary in order to continue "adequate, safe and pollution-free services."

Announcement of the new regulations means the temporary freeze on rates of privately owned utilities will end on or before March 25. Grayson said the commission would take final action on all of the 116 increases before it within 10 days.

On another subject, Grayson attacked Agriculture Secretary Earl Butz for statements "damaging to the stabilization program." Butz has been applauding rising farm prices and vowing to fight any attempts to control them. Raw agricultural products currently aren't under price guidelines.

Grayson, asked about Butz's statements, said he was so disturbed by them that he had typed out a statement before today's news conference.

Reading it, he said that farmers should be expected to make the same sacrifices as everybody else in the economy and should not expect any special catch-up. "The name of the game of catch-up is inflation," Grayson said.

Some Showers Predicted

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Some showers may occur in the northern portions of Arkansas Saturday, but otherwise the weekend forecast is ideal.

Partly cloudy skies and mild temperatures are expected.

A large rather weak high over the western two thirds of the nation is responsible for the pleasant weather in the state.

The high is splitting into two centers with one located over the Rocky Mountains and the other over Louisiana. The Louisiana center will move to the east causing winds over Arkansas to become more southerly, meaning warmer temperatures.

The increased southerly to southwesterly wind flow and the approach of a weak cold front from the north explains the chance of precipitation Saturday.

Highs today should be in the mid 60s to mid 70s with similar readings forecast Saturday.

Lows tonight should be mostly in the 40s.

Overnight lows include Fayetteville 34, Harrison 44, Jonesboro 42, Pine Bluff 45, Texarkana 43, El Dorado 38, Memphis 43, Little Rock 43 and Fort Smith 37.

Rainfall reports for the 24-hour period ended at 6 a.m. include a trace at El Dorado, .03 at Jonesboro and .16 at Memphis.

Weather

Experiment Station report for 24-hours ending at 7 a.m. Friday, High 68, Low 38, trace of rain.

Forecast

Arkansas: Fair and a little warmer today and tonight. Partly cloudy and mild Saturday with a few light showers mainly northeast portion. Highs today and Saturday mid 60s to mid 70s. Lows tonight near 40 to low 50s.

More File as Candidates

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Former state Labor Commissioner Arthur H. Hayes, 53, of North Little Rock filed as a Democrat in Pos. 2 in House District 2 Thursday.

Other filings included:

John Blundell, 53, an Ash-down automobile dealer, filed as a Democrat for the state Senate in District 12.

Rep. H. Woody Clark, 27, of Forrest City, filed for re-election as a Democrat in District 73.

Rep. N. B. Murphy of Hamburg, filed for re-election as a Democrat in District 62.

Sen. John F. Bearden Jr., 44, of Leachville, filed as a Democrat for re-election in District 31.

Rep. Jan Thomas, 34, of Clarksdale filed as a Democrat for re-election in District 83.

Rep. Thomas E. Sparks, 60, of Fordyce filed as a Democrat for re-election in District 59.

Chancery Judge John T. Jernigan, 56, of Little Rock, filed for re-election as a Democrat in the 2nd Division of the 1st Circuit.

Sen. Knox Nelson, 46, of Pine Bluff filed for re-election as a Democrat in District 23.

Pros. Atty. John F. Lowell Jr., 36, of Benton filed for re-election as a Democrat in the 7th Judicial District.

Troops Coming Home

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Command cut back 1,220 more troops today, the second big reduction in three days.

The command said 11 Army units have begun phasing out, including two helicopter units with a total of about 50 aircraft.

For National Health Insurance

CLARKSVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Senatorial candidate Ted Boswell of Bryant said Thursday he favored National health insurance.

Speaking to students at the College of the Ozarks here, Boswell said that a national health insurance program would make the controversial grant recently approved for the Lee County Cooperative Clinic at Marianna unnecessary.

On another topic, Boswell said he was opposed to busing but he would not use the subject as an emotional issue in the campaign to unseat Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark.

Boswell said he thought his chances against McClellan were good, but that if he loses he would probably enter politics again.

Delegates Like Mills

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A survey shows that 56 of the 75 persons who have filed as delegates to the Pulaski County Democratic Convention on June 16 have declared that Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., is their choice for president.

Two said they favored Sen. Edmund Muskie, D-Maine; two declared Sen. George McGovern, D-S.D., and one said he favored Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace.

Fourteen said they were uncommitted; and four others failed to state their preference.

Opening lead ♦ 6

By Oswald & James Jacoby

South took a very jaundiced look at that six-of-diamonds lead. He could live happily with any other opening. East put up the ace and returned the deuce and left South with the problem of finding eight tricks before giving up the lead.

Four clubs were easy and so were three spades. Four spades would come right in if the jack would drop but East had opened the bidding with one spade and almost surely had five or six for the bid.

Could West actually hold the singleton jack? Possible, but unlikely. Was there any other way to score four spade tricks? An end play? Wouldn't work. There was no way to get to the end of the hand without letting the diamonds parade home.

Finally, South saw there was a way to make his contract. If West's singleton spade were the eight or nine he could handle East's case. South was going to look idiotic if West's singleton were the jack but South didn't care about his charisma, just his bid.

South led a club to dummy and played dummy's 10 of spades. East covered with the jack. West dropped the eight and now South was in clover.

Back to dummy with a second club to lead a low spade. East played low and South put in the seven-spot. It held and he had his four spade tricks.

A—Bid one club. Do not open one spade, since there is a chance one spade will be passed out but virtually no chance the same will happen to one club. The hand is not quite strong enough for a forcing opening.

AEA Names New Officers

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Mrs. Henrietta Holcomb of Fayetteville has been chosen president-elect of the Arkansas Education Association, according to tabulations released Thursday of last week's vote.

She defeated Mrs. Dorothy Mansur of Magnet Cove.

Elected to at-large positions on the AEA board were Mrs. Betty Berry of Benton, Mrs. Jewell Frazier of Hot Springs and R.F. Clayton of Magnolia.

Mrs. Holcomb will become president May, 1973.

The AEA also rejected a proposed constitutional amendment to require that five blacks be elected to the AEA Board of Directors.

However, two blacks were elected to the board in the elections. They were Mrs. Frazier and Clayton.

The board had proposed the amendment requiring that five of the 33 directors be blacks because blacks had encountered difficulty in being elected to the board.

Contract for Buffalo Park

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Park Service awarded a $204,000 contract Thursday to the Tobin Research Co. of San Antonio, Tex., as the first step toward acquiring property for the Buffalo National Scenic River in northern Arkansas.

The office of Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., said Tobin would furnish land ownership maps and legal descriptions of property to the National Park Service.

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Gregg Morris, "Mission: Impossible's" electronics wizard since its beginnings six years ago, returned to the East Coast the other day for a short visit before returning to his screw drivers and wire snippers for a seventh year of trapping villains.

Gregg has found his role of Barney Vollier opening all sorts of show business doors which are closed to newcomers. He has played more than 30 roles in films and guest shots on other TV series and even turned out a record album.

"But I seem to be turned on by kids," he said. "The thing I really enjoy is working with them and for them."

Married and with three youngsters of his own ranging from 10 to 15, Morris is forever cutting out of Hollywood for cerebral palsy telethons, hospital visits or trips to schools—preferably in deprived sections, to sit down for rap sessions with student.

Some of his concern for young people probably stems from his own peripatetic upbringing. Born in Cleveland, he lost his father when he was young, and traveled around the country as his mother's jobs changed. He lived in New York's Harlem, Poughkeepsie, went back to Cleveland. He says that as a lonely 15-year-old he was introspective and even then beginning to live by a code of what he calls "introspective egoism"—belief in himself.

"I heard a man named Emmett Fox say 'God is within me and therefore I am,'" Morris explained. "It was one of those things that instantly made complete sense and it changed everything for me. After that I always believed that somewhere there would be success for me."

A handsome, tall man, Morris also knows that luck has played a part in his success as a performer. After working his way through Ohio State and the University of Iowa, he got a part in a West Coast company of "A Raisin in the Sun." He hit Hollywood in 1961 and never left. It was the beginning of the period when a black actor could hope to make a living at his craft.

"I've done well," he said. "Now I feel I can help pass some of it on."

The Catholic University of America in Washington, D.C., was chartered by Pope Leo XII in 1839.

Death Casts Pall Over Meet

WINTER PARK, Colo. (AP) — The death of a 20-year-old downhill racer on the University of Utah ski team and the subsequent withdrawal of the remainder of his team cast a pall over the opening day of the NCAA championships here Thursday.

David Allen Novelle, a sophomore from Salt Lake City, was killed after losing one ski and crashing into a tree during his first downhill run of the day on a heavily rutted course.

"It was a terrible thing ... awfully tough on the whole team," said Utah Coach Ladd Christenson. "David was well liked and quite close to all the team members."

The tragedy caused Christenson to announce the team would drop from further competition in the meet, which continues with the slalom today and jumping Saturday.

An NCAA official in Kansas City said it was the first death in memory at an association ski meet.

Novelle struck a tree halfway down the 1.3-mile course as he tried to maintain his balance after his left ski came off with a sudden jolt.

Witnesses said his skis apparently started chattering and he lost control of his skis. In trying to regain his balance, they said, Novelle "traveled about 150 yards on one ski."

He uprooted a small tree alongside the steep run and finally slammed against a larger evergreen further away from the course.

It was estimated Novelle was traveling between 50 and 60 miles per hour when the accident occurred.

"If he had fallen, he might have been okay," said one observer. "But he tried to stay with it and went too far."

The rest of the field completed the downhill, which was won by Otto Tschudi of the University of Denver.

Crippled U.S. Team Takes on Russians

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — A crippled United States team goes after a rare victory tonight when it meets a strong Russian squad in the first indoor meeting of the two track and field powers.

Already missing some of the glamor names, such as milers Jim Ryun and Tom Von Ruden and high jumper Pat Matzdorf, the world record holder, the U.S. team suffered another blow Thursday when high jumper Reynaldo Brown decided not to show.

The Soviet team is competing without sprinter Valeriy Borzov, considered one of the world's fastest in the 100 meters.

Replacing Brown, who has soared 7 feet, 4 inches this year, is Chris Dunn of Colgate, winner over Matzdorf in the NCAA indoor championships last week. Both cleared 7-2 1/2, but Dunn was declared the winner on fewer misses.

Steve Smith, the 20-year-old Long Beach, Calif., State sophomore, was replaced in the pole vault by Ron Carter of Houston. Smith, who had been consistently clearing 17 feet, slipped to 16-6 in the NCAA championships. Carter's best is 17-0.

An AAU spokesman said David Wottle of Bowling Green, NCAA 880-yard champion, has been entered in the mile, but it is not known if he will compete.

Beard Leads Tourney

Associated Press Golf Writer JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — The day started with the marshal picking up the first two drives that were hit off the tee, featured a rain delay and ended with Frank Beard talking about his ears.

Beard, who has been hampered by a serious ear infection most of the season, conquered wind and rain with a four-under-par 68 and the first round lead in the $125,000 Greater Jacksonville Open Golf Tournament Thursday.

"I'm not a good wind player," said Beard. "So a score like this on a day like this is some indication of how well I'm hitting the ball."

Beard, a $100,000 winner for the last five years, held a one stroke lead over Al Geiberger, whose last victory was the 1966 PGA National Championship.

Tony Jacklin of England headed a group of seven at 70, two under par on the 6,943 yard Hidden Hills Country Club Course that was swept by gusty winds and deluged with a heavy shower that caused a delay of almost an hour.

Also at that figure were Grier Jones, Bob Murphy, J. C. Snead, Jim Wiechers, George Hixon and Jim Hardy.

Troubled Arnold Palmer broke par for the first time in three weeks with a 71, but had to have six birdies to offset a double bogey, a pair of sixes and three three-putts greens.

Gary Player of South Africa, the defending champion, matched par 72 and Lee Trevino took a 73.

Beard, winner of 11 tour titles and the 1969 Player of the Year, has the reputation of being a colorful golfer. But he was chipper, cheerful and making wisecracks when he finished in the gathering darkness.

"I've never had any excuses—I abhor them—except bad

Ruffian Heads Field at Spa

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — Royal Ruffian heads a field of eleven 4-year-olds and upward in today's $12,500 St. Patrick's Day purse at Oaklawn Park.

The event is carded at 6 furlongs with a claiming price of $25,000.

Royal Ruffian, owned by Ann Lasater, won the $10,000 Delegation Purse in the last outing and is expected to be the favorite for today's event.

Posing strong threats, however, will be J.D. Askew's Jovial John, who will be trying for his third straight victory.

Royal Ruffian will carry 118 pounds including jockey Louis Spindler and Jovial John will be ridden by Joe Ehardt and will carry 117 pounds.

Others in the field are Easydrive, 115; Proven Flight, 115; Patient Hands, 115; Long Decision, 115; Windy Maker, 115; Union Soldier, 118; Turn Tam, 115, and Saigon Warrior, 118.

Blue Spurns $50,000, Vows to Quit Baseball

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Vida Blue said, "I quit," and with those two little words, the Oakland A's lost a pitcher and baseball lost a gate attraction.

"We hate to lose him ... and that's an understatement," said Oakland Manager Dick Williams after the star left-hander announced his retirement from baseball Thursday.

Blue, who reached an impasse in contract talks with owner Charles O. Finley, decided it all wasn't worth it and chucked his career for a public relations job.

The personable Blue had a meteoric rise last year, when he won 24 games and the Cy Young and Most Valuable Player awards in his full season in the majors. He pitched before more than a million fans.

The surprise announcement came after Blue maintained a rock-steady posture against Finley's offer of $50,000 for this year. Blue, represented by lawyer Robert Gerst, was seeking $92,500.

The door for negotiations was left slightly ajar, however, when Gerst said that Blue would consider any higher offers from Finley.

Elsewhere in baseball, there was more off-the-field excitement as the Boston Red Sox became the first team polled to vote against a strike for the Major League Players Association. The vote was 19-4 by the Red Sox, whereas the first 13 teams asked had voted unanimously for a strike.

The Players Association has threatened a strike because of an argument with owners over money for the ballplayers' health benefit plan.

In exhibition baseball, Ellie Hendricks tripled across the tying run in the fifth inning, then singled in the winning run in the seventh as the Baltimore Orioles whipped the Pittsburgh Pirates 3-2.

Tony Muser led the Chicago White Sox with four hits and two RBI in a 9-5 triumph over the Kansas City Royals.

A triple by Ted Simmons and single by Jorge Roque broke a tie and gave the St. Louis Cardinals a 2-1 rain-shortened 4 1/2 inning victory over the Houston Astros.

The Cincinnati Reds and New York Yankees played to a 1-1 tie in a game called after 13 innings because of rain. Cesar Geronimo's single drove home the game's first run in the top of the Cincinnati 10th inning

The Yankees tied it in their half of the inning on Johnny Callison's home run.

Craig Nettles drove in six runs for Cleveland as the Indians pulled out a 12-8 comeback triumph over the Chicago Cubs. Hank Aaron and Oscar Brown homered for Atlanta in a 15-14 triumph over the Texas Rangers.

Willie Crawford got three hits, leading Los Angeles over Minnesota 4-2. Boston scored six runs in the sixth inning to beat Detroit 10-6.

Five Oakland pitchers combined for a shutout as the A's topped San Diego 4-0, and the California Angels scored five times in the first inning and walloped Milwaukee 6-1.

SPORTS

NIT Meet to Open Tonight

NEW YORK (AP) — The National Invitation Tournament, under a blanket of shooting basketball stars, opens its 35th annual tournament tonight at Madison Square Garden.

The nation's oldest, post-season tournament, featuring Virginia and Lafayette in the opener, showcases some of the country's most explosive scorers.

After Barry Parkhill leads Virginia against Lafayette, led by high-scoring Tracy Tripucka, Ernie Fleming motivates Jacksonville against Fordham in the nights second game.

Syracuse, with Greg Kohls, takes on Davidson in the opener of a Saturday afternoon doubleheader, while Maryland plays St. Joseph's Pa., in the nightcap.

A Saturday night twin bill features Oral Roberts, sparked by Richie Fuqua, against Memphis State, with Larry Finch, and St. John's N.Y., against Missouri.

On Sunday, it's Princeton and high-scoring Brian Taylor against Indiana, and Texas-El Paso vs. Niagara. Quarter-finals will be held Monday and Tuesday night, the semifinals Thursday and the championship on Saturday, March 25.

Long Beach, UCLA Win

PROVO, Utah (AP) — Ed Ratliff and Chuck Terry hit 16 points each in pacing Long Beach State to a 75-55 victory over San Francisco, and UCLA demolished Weber State 90-58 on excellent outside shooting by Henry Farmer and Larry Bibby in first-round games of the NCAA Far West regional basketball tournament Thursday night.

Stephens Ousted by Parkview

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Dexter Reed pumped in 20 points to lead Little Rock Parkview to a come-from-behind 65-61 victory over Stephens in the first game of the state high school basketball tournament here Thursday night.

Stephens, a Class AA school, jumped to a quick eight-point lead and held a 20-14 first quarter advantage and a 32-27 half-time lead.

Parkview, a Class AAA school, came back in the second half, however, to take the lead, 41-40, with 2:32 left in the third quarter. Stephens took over command once again, however, and managed a 48-44 lead at the beginning of the final period.

Floyd Booth of Parkview tied the score at 48-48 with 7:16 re-

Wooden Named Cage Coach of the Year

By DAN BERGER Associated Press Sports Writer LOS ANGELES (AP) — John Wooden faced the 1971-72 season five months ago with great raw talent and an offensive strategy he wasn't sure would work.

The results, he says, are more than he expected. His UCLA basketball team is unbeaten, winners by an average margin of better than 32 points per game this year—an NCAA record—and it's one of his youngest squads.

"I'm naturally pleased and flattered," he said when told he was named The Associated Press Coach of the Year for the fifth time, but hastily passed along most of the credit to his team.

Wooden has been able to win with small teams featuring the guard play of Walt Hazzard and Gail Goodrich; tall teams headed by Lew Alcindor, now Kareem Jabbar, and with muscular teams featuring Sidney Wicks and Curtis Rowe. His 1971-72 club was a combination.

"It was something I hadn't tried before and I wasn't sure how it would work," said the man without a losing season, as player or coach.

"What I tried to do was design an offense that combined the strongest features of the high-post and the low-post offenses. When we had Kareem, he was at the low post (close to the basket). Well, that's where I want Bill Walton to play," he said, referring to his 6-foot-11 star center, the AP's Player of the Year in college basketball.

"But when we had Sidney and Curtis, we would bring them out to the perimeter with Steve Patterson on the high post (15-18 feet from the basket). This year, we're trying to use Keith Wilkes that way and it's seemed to work.

Wooden said Wilkes, a 6-6 stringbean who's just 18, makes the high-post portion of his offense work because of his alertness and quick hands. He receives passes from the guards and either shoots quickly or feeds Walton, who is down low.

Has it worked to his satisfaction? "Yes. This is a highly intelligent group of players and they have been most receptive. It's been a teaching and learning year for them and for me and, in a sense, it's been my most enjoyable year."

UCLA was the only major school with an unbeaten regular season record.

Just Downright Embarrassing

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS It was what you might call downright embarrassing.

Here were the Baltimore Bullets, getting ready to clinch the National Basketball Association's Central Division championship and here were the Cleveland Cavaliers, mired in last place, a fat 13 1/2 games back of the leaders. And which team would you guess had won the first five meetings between the two clubs this season?

Why, the Cavaliers, of course.

The Bullets set out for a little revenge and got it Thursday night with a 105-101 victory over the Cavs as Wes Unseld set a Cleveland Arena rebounding record.

In other NBA games Thursday, New York squeezed out a 103-102 last-second victory over Houston and Golden State downed Portland 107-94.

Unseld pulled down an Arena record 24 rebounds and injury-riddled Gus Johnson came off the Baltimore bench to score 18 points in the second and third period, helping the Bullets end their Cleveland hex.

The Bullets took the lead in the opening moments of the third period when they held the Cavaliers to a single field goal in the first 7:58 and opened a 16-point lead. Archie Clark led Baltimore with 24 points while Austin Carr and Bobby Smith had 26 each for Cleveland.

The Knicks went down to the final seconds to beat Houston. The Rockets, down by 10 at halftime, had battled back in front on Elvin Hayes' basket with nine seconds remaining. But the Knicks came back to regain the lead when Bill Bradley connected on a 20-footer with three seconds left on the clock.

Baseball Figure Dies

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Hall of Famer Harold "Pie" Traynor, a genial Irishman once voted baseball's greatest third baseman of all time, is dead at age 72 from a respiratory ailment.

Police said Traynor was stricken Thursday while visiting a friend. He was rushed to Shadyside Hospital by ambulance, but was dead on arrival.

A hospital spokesman said Traynor had been under a doctor's care for the illness and had to be hospitalized twice last year because of it.

Traynor, one of Pittsburgh's most beloved sports heroes, spent his entire 17 seasons in the major leagues with the Pirates. He compiled a lifetime batting average of .320, rapped out 2,416 hits and was a legend with the glove.

He was voted into the Hall of Fame in 1948 and was chosen the greatest third baseman who ever played in a special poll of baseball writers in 1969, the sport's centennial year.

He was born Nov. 11, 1899 at Framingham, Mass.

When Traynor played in Somerville, Mass., as a youngster he was befriended by a priest who directed baseball games. After each contest the priest would treat the youths to a snack.

Most of them requested ice cream, but it is said Traynor's response inevitably was: "I'll take pie, Father."

And thus the nickname. He entered organized baseball in 1920 with Portsmouth of the Virginia League. The same year, he was brought up to the Pirates for 17 games, then farmed out to Birmingham. He returned to Pittsburgh in 1921 and became the team's regular third baseman in 1922.

The Point of this fish story is how far some people will go to go fishing. Up in Onaway, Mich., as in many parts of the northern United States and Canada, ice fishing is a big thing for winter sportsmen. Alan Berry, right, out for some really big water game on Black Lake, tests a key piece of equipment, a barbed pitchfork with a lead-weighted handle. Below, in the dark of an ice shanty, he waits for a wooden decoy to attract his target—sturgeon. Patience rewarded, bottom, he carries off his prize.

A closer look at the catch. The 59-inch-long sturgeon weighs 49 pounds. Biggest on record, taken in 1943 from Lake Michigan, weighed 310 pounds and was nearly nine feet long. And then there were all those really big ones that got away

Concerned Over Power on Foreign Policy

WASHINGTON (AP) — State Department officials say they are concerned that Treasury Secretary John B. Connally may be making an effort to strip their agency of its power over conduct of U.S. foreign economic policy.

Connally set off the worrying with a New York speech Wednesday night in which he called for a reorganization of the administrative structure covering overseas trade and commercial policies, traditionally run by the State Department.

"The conduct of foreign economic policy today is characterized by traits of ponderousness, division of responsibility and, in some sectors, innocence," the Treasury secretary said.

One State Department source said he was sorry to hear Connally make such statements, particularly when a government study is under way on the structure of trade policy.

He said administration officials are supposed to stay neutral on the situation until the study, by the Office of Management and Budget, is completed this summer.

Many foreign-service officers were particularly alarmed by Connally's remarks because there is already considerable speculation that the State Department's general power in making foreign policy has been taken away by presidential adviser Henry A. Kissinger.

Although Connally has not put forth any specific reorganization ideas, the Democratic former Texas governor has amassed considerable power in his brief time as a Nixon Cabinet officer and some State Department sources see his latest moves as a power grab.

Still, they say, he has a point about the need for reform in foreign economic policymaking, but it should be done within the State Department and is already under way.

Many Say Movement Is Lightweight Fad

By GEORGE W. CORNELL

AP Religion Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Whenever a religious figure opens himself to questioning these days, whether at a public gathering, private dinner or news interview, he inevitably faces this query:

"What do you think of the Jesus people?"

Some church observers think the movement is a lightweight fad that will die out within a year. Others think it will revitalize the entire Christian cause, either outside the institutional churches or through gradually being absorbed into them.

In any case, it is, for the moment, a lusty and novel phenomenon, with a bandwagon group appeal to a growing number of youngsters in many places.

One of the most broad-gauged appraisals of it came recently from Dr. Elton Trueblood, a widely respected and perceptive Quaker philosopher at Earlham College in Richmond, Ind.

In a circular letter to members of the Yokefellow, an interdenominational association pledged to regular disciplines of Christian devotions and service, he calls the "Jesus people" an "interesting, baffling and important" development.

Many participants are young people who have been part of the drug culture but have revolted against it after finding it self-defeating, he says, and adds: "In a mood of desperation they have turned to Jesus as a viable alternative to their former despair and disillusionment... Many seem to have discovered a new way of ordering their emotions as well as liberation from the bondage both of compulsive drug use and obsession with sex."

"The new life in which these people now rejoice is one of almost continuous hilarity. They shout and sing and call out to anyone who will listen. 'Jesus loves you.'"

He says it's obviously a positive step when anyone stops the self-destruction, both mentally and emotionally, of trying to escape reality through drugs, and begins seeking real fulfillment.

"The adherents of the new cult often carry about with them tattered copies of the New Testament which they read assiduously," he says. "There, may, unfortunately, be no understanding of the scholarly work on the gospels..."

However, he adds, "just to know intimately what Jesus said and did, including the way in which he died and rose again, is to know something of a revolutionary importance" and "one does not have to be a scholar or acquire a mastery of Greek" to do it.

Coleman Is Against Busing

Bomb Threat Brings Warrant

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — A bench warrant has been issued for the arrest of Clifton Michael Dameron, 25, of Springdale in connection with a bomb threat earlier this year, according to Pros. Atty. Mahlon Gibson of Fayetteville.

Gibson said Thursday the FBI had found Dameron's fingerprints on an envelope and a note inside the envelope, which was delivered to the office of the Northwest Arkansas Times Jan. 21. The note said bombs would explode in Little Rock, Fayetteville and Fort Smith if former Secretary of State Dean Rusk was permitted to appear on the University of Arkansas campus. Rusk spoke at the UA Jan. 22 and no bomb exploded.

DUMAS, Ark. (AP) — Jack Coleman of McGehee, a candidate for Congress from the 4th District, said here Thursday that if elected he would actively support a constitutional amendment to halt busing of school children to achieve racial balance.

"I believe in the equal rights of all men and women... but I am strongly opposed to busing for two major reasons," Coleman said.

He said busing was costly and the money used in transporting students could better be used to upgrade schools.

Coleman also said students should spend the time in the classroom rather than the time riding school buses across a school district.

Coleman made the remarks during an organizational meeting of his campaign efforts in the Dumas area.

Busing Foes to Bury a Bus

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Busing foes in Memphis announced Thursday they will bury a school bus next week to conclude a seven-day-long anti-busing drive in the city.

Meanwhile, the group's call for pupils to boycott school lunchrooms spread Thursday to 44 schools, where 21,600 pupils usually have their lunches.

Lunch business was off by 9,000 children Thursday, 4,000 more than Wednesday.

The boycott was in its third day today.

"We had more children who brought their lunches than we had Wednesday," said assistant school superintendent Ray Holt of the Thursday situation, "and we had more schools affected by the boycott, so I would say the protest had some increased impact."

He estimated the loss in cafeteria labor costs for the two days at $3,600. He said surveys are being taken each morning in homerooms in an attempt to reduce the food preparation loss.

Mrs. Ruth Saeed of Citizens Against Busing, sponsor of the boycott, said it will run through Wednesday, when a funeral for a school bus will end the demonstration.

"We are going to bury the whole thing. We are going to bury a real, yellow school bus one of our members found and donated to us," she said. The ceremony will be in a vacant lot.

Would Probe Phone Firms

PARAGOULD, Ark. (AP) — Rep. George Davis of Horatio, a Democratic candidate for governor, said Thursday night the state Public Service Commission should investigate "manpower shortages in the state's telephone companies."

Davis, who was campaigning at Paragould, said he dialed an operator at Jonesboro to make a long distance call and the phone rang for 17 minutes before an operator answered.

Davis said he was told the reason for the delay was a shortage of operators.

THANK YOU

To all that supported me during my recent campaign for the Hope School District 1-A School Board, I sincerely thank you.

Although I wasn't successful in winning, your vote wasn't wasted. By voting, you showed your trust in me, and your concern in our community and schools, for which I am grateful.

My losing wound has healed and I will be looking forward to your support in the future.

Again, many thanks.

Respectfully yours,

NAT O. IMPSON

DR. LAWRENCE E. LAMB

Doctor's Opinion On 'French Kiss'

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

Dear Dr. Lamb—I would like some advice on a subject in which I am sure a lot of teen-age girls are interested. As a doctor how do you feel about "French kissing"? The germs and so forth.

Dear Reader—I would suspect that a lot of people feel that the "and so forth" would outweigh the problem of the germs. Seriously, it really depends on whom you are being thusly intimate with. We all have germs. They are on our hands, face, our skin, in our ears, nose — every orifice of the body, including the mouth.

Fortunately, most of these germs which we all carry with us are relatively harmless as far as causing disease. This isn't always true and I'll give you a simple unemotional example. A person who has a severe, sore, strep throat may well infect someone by personal contact, kissing of any type, and even more likely so with French kissing. Colds and respiratory infections when they are present may easily be transmitted this way.

In between infections, the types of bacteria that are in the mouth that may be transmitted from one person to another may not be the kind that would cause any disease. Now, of course, this is a generalization and there are conditions in which germs in the mouth can be transmitted from one person to the other and cause disease. It is obviously one good way of transmitting syphilis, since the germ of syphilis has to remain in a moist environment and moist saliva provides such a moist vehicle for passing the germ from one person to another.

All of us learn to live in peace (most of the time) with our germs. When two people with different germs come in close contact new germs are exchanged and the body sometimes reacts adversely until a new peaceful coexistent situation is developed. Studies of the germs each person had before entering a simulated space chamber and what each person had when he came out showed that all team members came out with the same germs in common.

I doubt very much that any really good studies on French kissing in relationship to transmitting syphilis have ever been done, possibly because French kissing often goes along with other activities. I suppose most of the time it is reasonably safe. When it is not, it usually involves transmission of respiratory infections like the common cold and at very infrequent intervals something more serious can be transmitted. I suspect that the "and so forth" is still going to be the determining factor.

Thinks Investments Are Misunderstood

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Church officials, hit by a tide of questions from members about denominational investments in so-called war industries, say the issue has been misunderstood and it is not as simple as it looks on the surface.
For one thing, they say it is impossible to function at all in a fallible world without sharing to some degree its faults.
They also point out that the churches are working to refine their investment policies so as best to uphold their ethical principles.

we stand somewhat unjustly accused," says the Rev. James A. Christison Jr., head of the American Baptist Home Mission Societies. "We can't avoid risks in this world if we are going to be involved."
Other church leaders also have issued explanations and clarifications in the wake of a study by the newly formed Church Corporate Information Center reporting 10 major Protestant denominations have investments totaling $203 million in firms handling military contracts.
The officials noted, among other things, that only a fraction of the companies' operations involved military items—less than 5 per cent for about half of the firms.
In any case, the religious leaders say it is questionable whether the churches actually would be shoring up their principles merely by getting rid of such investments.
As the United Methodist treasurer, R. Bryan Brawner of Chicago, puts it:
"Do you discharge your moral responsibility by selling your holdings and washing your hands of the whole business, or do you remain in a particular investment and attempt to influence company policies from inside the structure?"
In most cases, so far, the churches have chosen to work from inside—as stockholders—in their expanding efforts to use their industrial holdings in behalf of racial equity in employment, antipollution measures and fair dealings with consumers.
Selling out generally is considered a last resort, if other efforts fail. Over-all the religious institutional wealth in this country is estimated to amount to at least $160 billion, with large sums invested in corporate stocks.
Church spokesmen emphasized that the churches are working to develop clearer guidelines on investments so as to uphold their moral concerns most effectively. Special committees have been set up for the task.
In the past, about the only extensively applied church rule was simply not to buy shares in tobacco or liquor companies. But lately, church leaders have cited a wider moral responsibility in company practices—in hiring minorities, protecting the environment, fair prices and just labor policies.

Holly
Cheerful sprigs of holly had an attraction for man long before the first Christmas. The shrub was distributed by the ancient Greeks to bring luck and superstitious Romans planted it to protect their property from lightning.

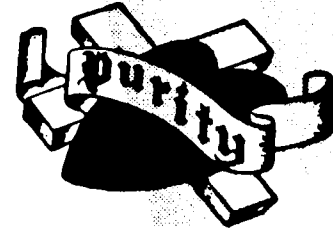

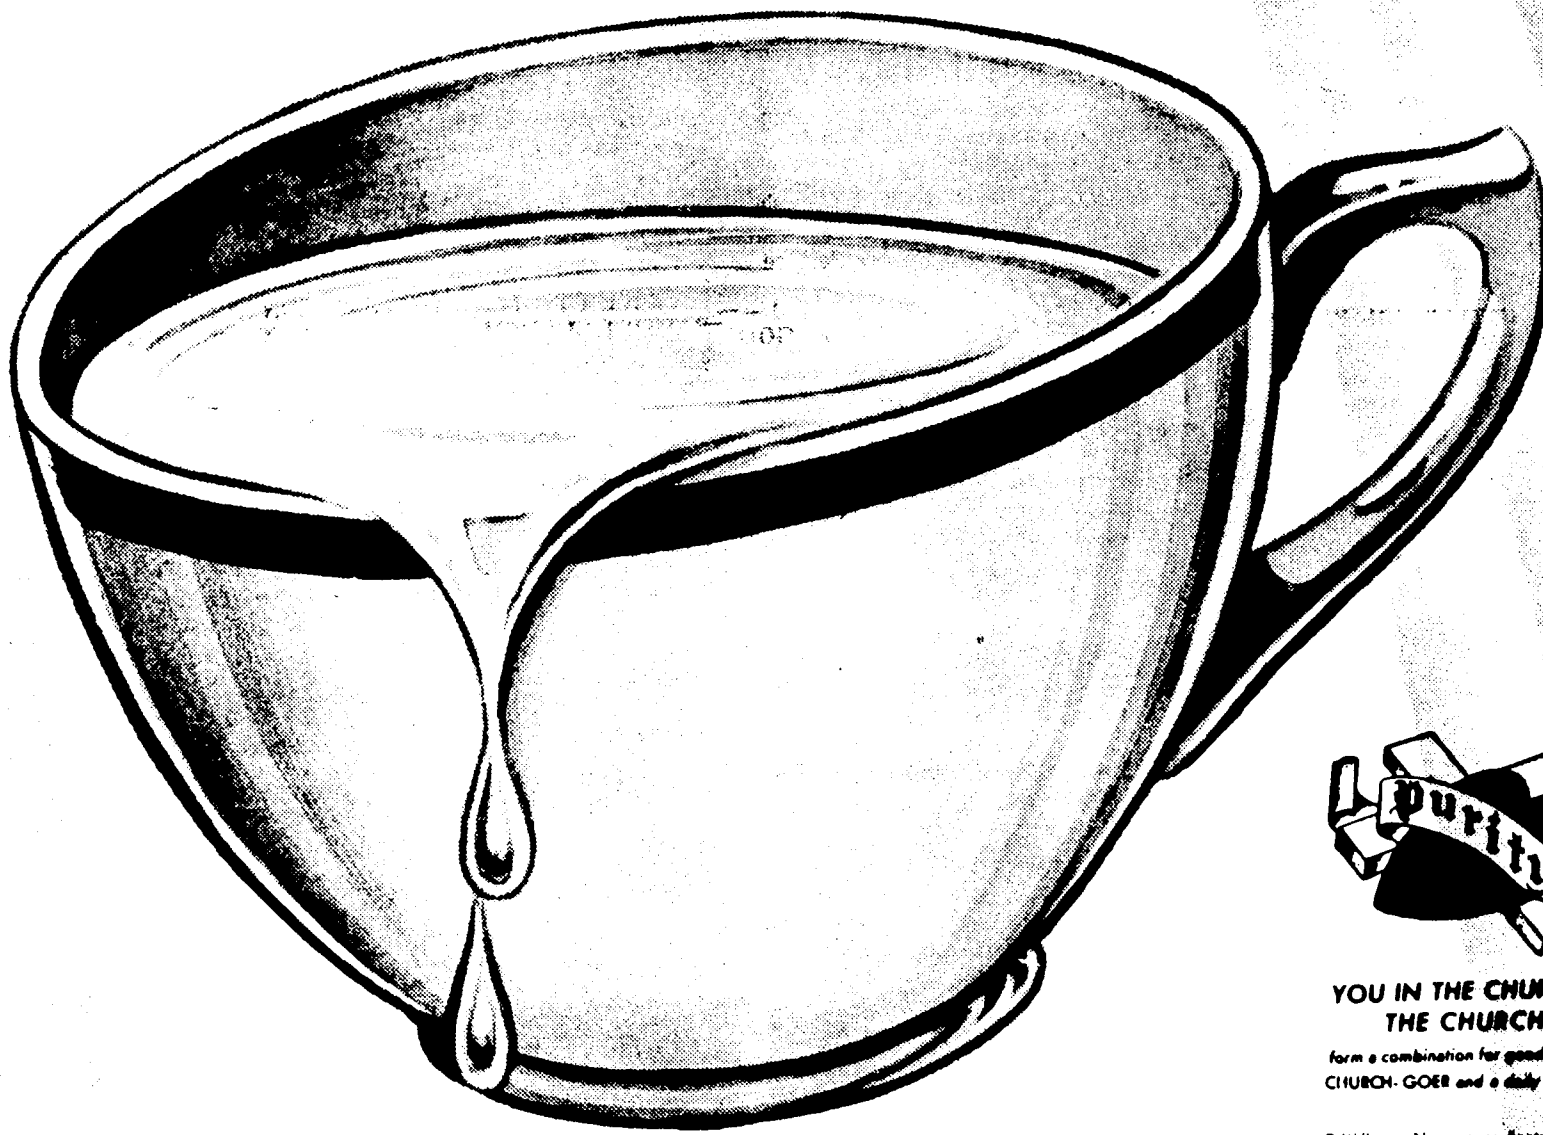

BE PARTNERS WITH GOD SUPPORT HIS CHURCH YOUR CUP Full

In the 23rd Psalm, David expresses his confidence in God as a provider. He assures us that God will not let us go wanting, that He will supply all our needs.

But the Psalmist does not stop here. He assures us that God will give us more than we need, in fact, so much more that our cup will run over. He even assures us a surplus. A God-given surplus. A surplus we can waste or we can share. If we waste it, we are careless. If we share it, of course, we care. To waste it would be to mock the provider; to share it would be to thank Him for it.

In an era when we hear so much about the minimum hourly wage and a guaranteed income, we find it very difficult to separate that which we need from what we do not need, but think we do. If we could honestly discern between necessities and luxuries, we could witness our cup really running over. The question is personal. What are you doing with your surplus? Just what are you doing with Your Cup Full?

Lions Club Stages One of Its Variety Shows

Antisecrecy Law Ignored

By CARL C. CRAFT
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Newsmen and government agencies alike have ignored a four-year-old antisecrecy law designed to increase public access to the bureaucracy's files, a House subcommittee chairman declared today.

Rep. William S. Moorhead, D-Pa., Chairman of the House government information subcommittee, released an analysis by the panel showing how federal agencies have reacted to the Freedom of Information Act.

He criticized newsmen for failing to use it more often and attacked agencies for trying to circumvent it.

Moorhead said nearly 2,200 requests for access to federal records were denied completely or in part. For each refusal, 17 requests were granted, he added.

Many government agencies "seem to be doing everything possible to ignore" the law, he asserted. But others, "and the Air Force is the worst offender, try to make their information operations look good by claiming that thousands of requests for routine government documents are actually demands for access under the Freedom of Information Act."

Some agencies, he said, "keep no records and apparently have no interest in implementing the law." He cited the Civil Service Commission as an example.

Moorhead said corporations and lawyers representing private interests appear to be using the law the most: "Those who can afford the expensive and time-consuming process of fighting for their right to know will do so."

Moorhead said he is "surprised, however, that the reporters, editors and broadcasters whose job it is to inform the American people have made so little use of the Freedom of Information Act. They were the major supporters of those in Congress who created the law."

"The free and responsible press is the keystone of an informed, democratic society and it should be the major user of the law designed to guarantee the people's right to know."

The analysis covered the period from July 4, 1967, when the law took effect, to July 4, 1971. Conclusions were based on reports from 32 federal agencies which responded to subcommittee questionnaires.

Major government agencies took an average of 33 days to respond to a request, but the response took an average of 50 days in cases where the first decision to withhold was appealed.

Several choirs of the city and surrounding area have been invited to participate. Rev. W.M. Martin is the pastor.

Engagement Announced

MYRTLE WILLIAMSON

Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Williamson of Route 2, Emmet, announce the approaching April 1 wedding of their daughter, Myrtle Joyce, to Raymond Smith, son of Mrs. Elnora Butler of Arkadelphia.

Miss Williamson will be graduated from Ouachita Baptist University in May with a B.S.E. degree.

Mr. Smith is presently employed with Ouachita Marine Industrial Corporation in Arkadelphia.

The wedding ceremony will be held at the Antioch Baptist Church of Emmet at 7:00 p.m. April 1. The public is cordially invited to attend.

LINDA HENAGAN

Mr. and Mrs. Reo Henagan of Prescott announce the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Linda, a senior of Blevins High School, to David W. Williams, the son of Mr. and Mrs. D. Reynolds of Mortons Gap, Kentucky.

The bridegroom was a graduate of South Hopkins High School in Kentucky. He now lives

More Oil Demand

By JACK KEEVER
Associated Press Writer

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — Steadily increasing demands for Texas oil forced the Railroad Commission to take a hard look today at the monthly statewide allowable, which already is at its third highest level since 1948.

The commission gathered in this far West Texas City for the first time to listen to oil executives talk about the future of the industry and to set the April allowable.

The commission has hiked the allowable by 23 per cent in the past three months to 86 per cent, and indications were that it would have to be raised again to meet buyers request for more oil next month.

Commission Chairman Byron Tunnell told Texas independent oilmen Wednesday Americans should be willing to pay more for oil and gas to give the industry additional money to hunt new supplies to replace declining reserves.

Tunnell spoke to the executive committee of the Texas Independent Producers & Royalty Owners Association, which claims as members more than 5,000 of Texas' 8,000 independent oilmen.

Tunnell said the nation's security and living standard "depend on our success" in meeting the "spiraling demand for petroleum products."

He said he did not foresee any other energy source, such as atomic energy, replacing petroleum in the near future.

People "should be willing to pay higher prices if that is the only way—and perhaps it is—for the oil industry to find and develop essential new reserves," he said.

Tunnell said according to studies by such groups as the U. S. Geological Survey and National Petroleum Council. "There is more oil and gas to be found, and it is ours to find" if there is enough economic incentive.

KEEPS BUSY AT 99

KANKAKEE, Ill. (AP) — Being 99 years old, Mrs. Nelda McNamara says the secret of longevity is "work."

She knits and used to make dresses for family members. A widow, she lives with a sister.

in Flint, Michigan where he's attending the Peace Officers Training Service (consisting of police work).

The wedding will be solemnized on May 13 at the Antioch Baptist Church of Emmet. A reception will follow after the ceremony.

Bumper Grain Crop Predicted

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two reports issued Thursday by the Agriculture Department raised the possibility of more bumper grain production this year, close on the heels of the record output of 1971.

In a planting intentions report, based on a March 1 survey, farmers indicated they will plant 60.5 million acres in corn this year, only 5.6 million fewer than last when they produced a bin-bulging record of 5.5 billion bushels.

Officials said if recent yields continue and farmers plant as much as they said, the corn crop this year could be 5.1 billion bushels, a second largest on record.

The government's unofficial target is for 65 million to 66 million acres and a harvest of about 4.5 billion bushels.

Wheat farmers said they will have 55.4 million acres planted for 1972 production—including winter and spring types—which could be a record output of 1.66 billion bushels, up slightly from the high mark reached last year.

That is about in line with department expectations for wheat, although such production would not reduce surpluses at the present rate of use.

Another report, which helped cloud the picture further, showed feed grain producers had agreed to take 31.8 million acres from production of corn, sorghum and barley this year.

The report covered signups in the USDA feed-grain program through March 9, one day short of the enrollment deadline.

Department officials, when they announced the 1972 feed program last fall, said the goal was for 38 million acres set aside or taken from production this year. Others have said privately, however, that 36 million might be enough.

Another report showing more complete details of the signup will be issued next week.

Meantime, wheat farmers were hoped by the department to retire an additional five million to six million acres from production this year in addition to their normal set-aside requirements.

But with one day remaining in the program enrollment, the optional wheat set-aside totaled slightly less than 4.3 million acres.

McClellan, Bumpers Talk

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., and Gov. Dale Bumpers met privately Thursday with a group from Marianna to discuss ways to ease racial tensions in the East Arkansas town.

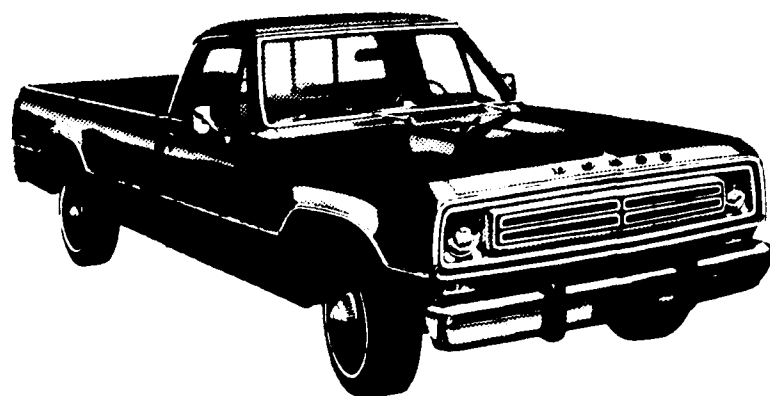

Bumpers said after the meeting that the discussion concerned "a number of things aimed at reducing racial tensions."

Both Bumpers and McClellan declined further comment on the meeting. They would not even say who else attended.
